The Importance of Dental Care

Oral disease is the most frequently diagnosed health problem in dogs and cats. The American Veterinary Dental Society asserts that periodontal disease affects nearly 80 percent of dogs and cats over the age of three. The build-up of plaque turns to hard tartar which often results in gingivitis. When bacteria enters the bloodstream through pockets around the teeth, your pet's internal organs are affected. Many medical problems seen in the heart, lungs, liver and kidneys may have resulted from the presence of dental disease.

Periodontal Disease symptoms include:
- Persistent bad breath (halitosis)
- Inflamed or bleeding gums
- Bumps or lumps in the mouth
- Drooling or pawing at the mouth
- Loose or missing teeth
- Loss of appetite
- Irritability or depression

Soft Rawhide Chews

Tartar Shield Soft Rawhide Chews are made from American beef hide and contain a patented formula clinically proven to clean teeth, reduce bacteria, freshen breath, and prevent plaque and tartar build-up by more than 50%. The soft rawhide surface is easy to chew and gentle on your dog’s teeth and gums. The savory bacon flavor is a delicious taste your dog is sure to love!

Many dogs have trouble chewing conventional rawhide, which can present choking hazards. But Tartar Shield Soft Rawhide Chews are specially made from extruded American beef hide that is chopped and minced so they “give” when your dog bites into them, and they are fully digestible.

Tartar Shield Soft Rawhide Chews were awarded the coveted Veterinary Oral Health Council’s (VOHC) Seal of Acceptance for Tartar Control. Clinical trials have documented that the use of Tartar Shield Soft Rawhide Chews result in a significant reduction of tartar. Additional benefits include the reduction of dental plaque, gingivitis, and malodor.
